Presentation of the T-sized passenger carriage concept

On 2 October, at Paveletsky railway station in Moscow, FPC presented the concept for a next-generation third-class open sleeping carriage with larger dimensions than conventional carriages in long-distance trains. By expanding the exterior carriage dimensions and revising the interior layout, designers managed to increase the internal space as well (from 16 m to 18.9 m), an almost 3 m increase in length. The presented concept has larger berths and luggage storage space by 10% and 14%, respectively.
